

CHILDREN'S SUMMER THEATER WORKSHOP AT THE LINCOLN CITY CULTURAL CENTER

THEATER MAGIC!

TALES AROUND THE MEDITERRANEAN

A two-week performance workshop

For kids entering 3rd - 12th grade

July 22-August 2, 2019

Back by popular demand, the second annual children's theater workshop will be filled with fun, challenge and rewards for participating students. This year's original script by Julie Fiedler, features a variety of wacky characters derived from folktales from Spain, Portugal and Turkey. Under careful direction students will build their acting skills by participating in daily theater games and exercises specific to the stories involved. Throughout the two weeks, they will learn to use voice, body language, improvisation and mime skills to develop each character. There are rich and complex roles for the experienced students and delightful roles for the beginner. Everyone gets a speaking part and rehearsals build on critical thinking and cooperative problem solving, as characters develop and actors form friendships. Students will also be involved in negotiating props and creating set pieces. The workshop culminates in a polished performance on stage at The Lincoln City Cultural Center, guaranteed to delight audiences of all ages.

DIRECTORS

Kaline Klaas has worked with hundreds of children in playful and creative theater workshops in public and private schools and has directed over 50 children's plays. She was the Director of Let There Be Arts and currently teaches drama at St. James Santiago School in Lincoln City, Oregon.

Julie Fiedler is an artist, teacher, script-writer and administrator. She has worked with hundreds of children in schools and summer arts camps for many years. She is a delightfully creative face painter and can be found designing colorful masterpieces on children's faces throughout the summer months at the Lincoln City Farmer's Market. She is currently the Director of St. James Santiago School in Lincoln City, Oregon.
